

Holy Week will be observed by society, if not strictly, still with a decided mod-eration of entertainments. The chief gathering place for society will be at the opera to-morrow night, and later in the week many will leave the city to pass Easter at their country places.

What might be called the little season of society, beginning next Monday, has nothing very important in store save some dinners and small dances and of course a lot of weddings, although the number is not quite up to the mark of last year. It is not to be wondered at that there will be no large dances after the prolonged season of the early winter, and the dances already arranged for Easter week are to be given by those who were not here during the first part of the winter.

Mrs. Theodore Hostetter will give a dinner dance at Sherry's for her daughter,

Miss Greta Hostetter, on April 9. Both have recently returned from England, where they went last May. Mrs. Hostetter had a house in London for the coronation season and later went with her daughter to the Durbar in India.

Miss Madeleine Dinsmore will give a dinner dance on the following night at Sherry's for her niece, Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Robert P. Huntington, who was one of the winter's débutantes. Mr. and Mrs.
Huntington gave no formal entertainment for their daughter, who was included at all the important gatherings of the winter.

Before their arrival here Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin were besieged by wireles messages offering them all sorts of enter tainments in the way of dinners, luncheons and the opera. It is a long time since they have been in New York: indeed they have not been here since their famous fancy dress ball which was given fifteen ye is ago at the Waldorf. Those of their New York friends who have visited Mr. and Mrs. Martin in London or at their place in Scotland are naturally anxious to show them every possible attention during their short visit here. Their arrival in New York was much in advance of their first expectations. They came earlier than they had planned, owing to the present unrest in Great Britain, which makes the ocean service rather doubtful.

Julien T. Davies, whose late wife was a sister of Mr. Martin will give them a dinner in the annex of the Metropolitan Club on the night of Easter Tuesday. The only the night of Easter Tuesday. The only invitation Mr. and Mrs. Martin have accepted thus far for the opera is from Mr. and Mrs. Februard L. Baylies, for tomorrow night. For years Mr. and Mrs. Baylies have visited Mr. and Mrs. Martin at their place in Scotland.

The newly appointed Ambassador to France, Myron T. Herrick, and Mrs. Herrick, who have for some time been in Washington, will arrive here on Easter Sunday and they will be much entertained during their brief stay in New York. Gen. Horace Porter. who was formerly Ambassador to France, will have them at dinner on Easter Monday, and on the following night they will dine with Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander. After much telegraphing and telephoning to Washington Frederick Townsend Martin succeeded in securing Mr. and Mrs. Herrick for luncheon at Sherry's on April 10, and on that night Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry will give them a dinner. On the day following Mr. and Mrs. Herrick will depart for France.

An engagement announced here and in Madrid last week is that of Miss Marjorie Ide, a daughter of Henry C. Ide, American Minister to Spain, to Shane Leslie, eldest son of Col. and Mrs. John Leslie of London, who have been here since the latter part of January. Mrs. W. Bourke Cockran announced her sister's engagement to her friends in New York. Mr. Leslie, who was also here during the winter, is a grandson of Sir John Leslie, Bart. andll ady Constance Leslie, who have many American friends. His mother was Miss Leonie Jerome, one of the three daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jerome of this city. Her sisters are Mrs. George Cornwallis West, by her first marriage, Lady Randolph Churchill, and Mrs. Moreton
